2024 COMMODITY MARKET OUTLOOK

New Lower U.S. $ Index Inflationary Led Commodity Super Cycle with Moe Agostino

Location: Event Hall B

As the U.S. Fed starts to lower interest rates and print money, it will drive the U.S. $ Index lower and create demand driving commodity prices higher. Add a Red Sea war and COVID like global supplies chain issues that also add to inflation, and you will solicit more fund money back into commodities to cover their near record short position in grains and oilseeds. The highs in prices are never hit in January or February but rather in June or July!
